Provide the descriptions required for Part II, lines 3, 5, and 9; Part III, lines 1a and 4; Part IV, lines 1b and 2b; Part V, line 4; Part X, line 2; Part XI, lines 2d and 4b; and Part XII, lines 2d and 4b. Also complete this part to provide any additional information.

Pt V, Line 4 Donor endowment funds are used as instructed by the donor which includes scholarships, programs, and other expenses as needed by the Fund. Earnings on funds designated by the Executive Committee to act as endowments are used to pay the fund's administrative expenses, which may include program, management, or fundraising expenses, or they may be designated for use in specific programs.

Pt XI, Line 4b Fund-raising expenses for events are netted against revenue on the financial statements.

Pt XII, Line 4b Fund-raising expenses for events are netted against revenue on the financial statements.

The following is the text of the financial statement note pertaining to uncertain tax positions: The Fund has received a determination letter from the Internal Revenue Service indicating that the Fund is exempt from income tax under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 and, except for taxes pertaining to unrelated business income, is exempt from federal and state income taxes. The Fund is classified as a public charity under Section 509(a)(1) and Section 170(b)(1)(A)(vi), an organization that normally receives a substantial part of its support from direct or indirect contributions from the general public. No provision has been made for income taxes in the accompanying financial statements as the Fund had no material unrelated business income in fiscal years 2016 and 2015.

The Fund recognizes a tax position as a benefit only if it is "more likely than not" that the tax position would be sustained in a tax examination, with a tax examination being presumed to occur. The amount recognized is the largest amount of tax benefit that is greater than 50% likely of being realized on examination. For tax positions not meeting the "more likely than not" test, no tax benefit is recorded. The Fund does not expect the total amount of unrecognized tax benefits to significantly change in the next twelve months.

The Fund has applied this criterion to all tax positions for which the statute of limitations remains open. Tax years open to examination by tax authorities under the statute of limitations include fiscal years ending June 2013 through 2015. The Fund recognizes interest and penalties related to unrecognized tax benefits in interest and income tax expense, respectively. The Fund has no amounts accrued for interest or penalties as of June 30, 2016 and 2015. The Fund has determined that its tax provisions satisfy the more likely than not criterion and that no provision for income taxes is required at June 30, 2016.

Pt X, Line 2

A writeoff of a bad debt of $500 related to an event was shown as a loss on the financial statements but was excluded from income on the tax return.

Pt I Line 2

Procedures for monitoring the use of grant funds differ based on the type of grant awarded. Schools eligible for support are reviewed each year to ensure they meet outlined criteria (in City of Chicago, student population has over 20% qualify for free or reduced lunch and participate in Title I programs). Overall schools report annually on a number of indicators including financial viability, enrollment, student academic performance, and demographic characteristics of students served. Renewable scholarship awards include regular progress monitoring and reporting by the individual schools on students. Patrons Program funds are only distributed upon agreement of Patron, Principal and Big Shoulders, and requires substantiation through receipting or accounting of use of funds. Programmatic and capital support requires a minimum of annual reports on use of funds and demonstrated measurable objectives met through the funding. Big Shoulders Fund staff members regularly visit (at least 2-5 times each year) schools and meet with leadership to ensure schools are using funds as indicated by the requirements of each type of support.

Other

Although Big Shoulders Fund prepares its financial statements on the accrual basis, Schedule I has been prepared on the cash basis. We believe this method is more informative as it shows actual cash outlays during the year, including both direct payments to schools and payments made on behalf of schools. On the accrual basis, multi-year grants pledged but not paid in the current year would be included in this schedule, but cash payments to schools as a result of previous multi-year grants would not be included. This could cause a misunderstanding regarding the actual annual support that the Big Shoulders Fund provides to certain schools during each school year. See the summary on Schedule O which shows the reconciliation between grants reported on Schedule I and total grants

Part III Supplemental Information

Provide the information, explanation, or descriptions required for Part I, lines 1a, 1b, 3, 4a, 4b, 4c, 5a, 5b, 6a, 6b, 7, and 8, and for Part II. Also complete this part for any additional information.

Pt I Line 1a Dues to a social club are paid on behalf of Joshua Hale, President, in order to have a place to conduct off-site board meetings and meetings with donors. These dues are not included in the president's taxable income.

Pt I Line 1a A car is provided for business and personal use for Monsignor Kenneth Velo, co-chairman, who is also a member of a religious organization. Because the value of the personal use is reported on Form W-2, as required for officers of the organization, a small stipend is also provided which is calculated to cover the amount of any taxes which might be incurred by Monsignor Velo. The value of the personal use and the amount of the stipend vary from year to year based on the actual mileage used and the tax laws in effect during the year. Both the value of the personal use of the car and the stipend are included in his taxable income.

Pt I Line 7 An annual bonus was paid to all employees active as of 12/31/15, including those listed in Part VII, based upon reaching various organizational goals during the year. The bonus percentage is decided annually by the Co-chairmen. The same bonus percentage is used for all employees. The bonus percentage is multiplied by each person's regular annual compensation to determine the dollar amount of the bonus.

Pt VI, Line 12c The conflict of interest policy covers any director, principal, officer, or member of a committee with authority to take action on behalf of the Executive Committee. An annual notice is sent to the people covered under the policy to remind them of their duties regarding potential conflicts of interest. Any such person is required to disclose any potential conflict of interest to the Executive Committee prior to the proposed transaction taking place. The Executive Committee will then review all relevant information and decide if a conflict of interest exists. If the Executive Committee decides a conflict of interest exists, the person is prohibited from participating in any discussion or vote on that matter. All Executive Committee members are also requested annually to report any family or business relationships that must be disclosed on Form 990.

Pt VI, Line 15a The Co-Chairmen and Executive Committee determine the compensation for the President after reviewing his performance and by using comparative data for other non-profit organizations. This was last done in January 2016.

Pt VI, Line 19 Tax returns for the past three years are posted on our website. Financial statements, governing documents and the conflict of interest policy may be provided to interested parties upon request.

Other Part VII, Section A: The "Executive Committee" is the formal name of the governing board of the organization. Joshua Hale and Linda Rossi are reported as officers in Section A because their job descriptions fit the criteria specified by the IRS to be reported as officers. However they are not legal officers of the organization.

Part VIII, Line 11a: Under generally accepted accounting principles, non-profit organizations must report agency transactions in a specific manner. Agency transactions are contributions received from donors who have designated the use of their funds for a specific beneficiary, such as a donor requesting that their gift be directed to a certain school as a grant. As required under GAAP for financial statement presentation, the Big Shoulders Fund excludes these from (net) revenue and reports them as liabilities when received. However, in order to present the

Big Shoulders Fund: Activities, Outcomes, and Forward Vision

Introduction: Doubling Down on Mission

Throughout the course of the year, Chicagoans have been inundated with media stories about the chaos and unrest in their city and admittedly, the violence of recent months has tested our resilience and character. They have not, however, robbed us of hope or diminished our commitment to improving the quality of life in our most underserved communities and challenged schools. Instead, Big Shoulders Fund is energized and steadfast in its resolve to provide holistic supports to schools, ensuring they remain rooted in community. Our schools continue to welcome deserving children through their doors into a world of learning, values, and development.

Big Shoulders Fund is an independent charitable organization that serves inner-city Catholic schools in order to provide a quality, values-based education for Chicago's children, thereby contributing to stronger communities. It is guided by the following principles:

1. A rigorous education is crucial to breaking the cycle of poverty.
2. Big Shoulders Fund schools are anchors in their communities that promote safety, stability, and a vibrant learning culture.
3. Every child of all races and creeds deserves the opportunity to pursue a quality education at a Catholic school.
4. Exceptional leaders are necessary for exceptional schools.
5. Successful schools require access to curricular and operational assistance that will support them through periods of change and beyond.
6. Partners who invest their resources or expertise are essential to achieving success in our schools and for our students.

For nearly three decades, Big Shoulders has provided support to inner-city Chicago Catholic schools. Today, Big Shoulders works in partnership with 77 elementary and high schools to serve nearly 20,000 children, awarding approximately $15 million in grants and scholarships annually.

Widespread poverty is a substantial barrier that must be overcome in order to bring Big Shoulders Fund's mission to fruition. All Big Shoulders schools are Title I eligible/participants in which a minimum of 20 percent of attending students are living at or below poverty level. Annually, however, approximately 66 percent of all students served live at or below poverty level. Eighty percent of these students are minorities.

Big Shoulders supports schools and students through investments in four core areas: scholarships, leadership development for school administrators and teachers, academic enrichment, and operational improvement. When schools receive support in these vital areas, they are empowered to significantly improve business practices and strive for better outcomes including student growth and achievement and creation of structures to ensure timely student graduation and matriculation into quality high schools or colleges.

Scholarship & Enrollment Growth – 40 to 50 percent of annual investment

Recent research on national shifts in household spending found basic needs costs have grown to account for nearly 80 percent of low-income families' overall budgets in the last 30 years.<sup>1</sup> An analysis of the apartment market in Chicago found that average rent in Chicago has increased 3.9 percent per year over the last two years and median rent increased 4.8 percent last year alone.<sup>2</sup> These factors impact families' ability to afford school tuition. With median tuition rates of $4,960 per student in elementary school and $8,025 in high school during the 2015-16 school year and the surging cost of living, families are squeezed against razor-thin margins for discretionary spending and often have little left over to save in case of an emergency.

In response, Big Shoulders and its supporters provide substantial support to families and schools through over 70 distinct scholarship programs. In addition to significantly reducing barriers to quality education, scholarships also help schools retain students despite high rates of family mobility. During the 2015-16 school year, Big Shoulders awarded approximately $8 million in scholarships to over 5,000 students. As the largest scholarship provider in Chicago, Big Shoulders offers both multi-year renewable financial awards and one-time emergency funds for families who have experienced personal and financial difficulties. The scholarship program has grown tremendously in the last ten years from 3,000 scholars served in 2006-07.

The vision is to eventually serve 10,000 students through scholarships each year; however the demand for scholarships significantly exceeds available funding. During the 2014-15 school year alone, Big Shoulders would have needed an additional $1.1 million to meet all scholarship requests received in the 2014-15 school year. As it strives to reach the 10,000 scholar goal, Big Shoulders engages and supports previously unserved families that are seeking quality educational opportunities for their children, but remain in substandard alternatives because they fear they cannot afford tuition at a Big Shoulders school. In 2012, Big Shoulders launched the Access Scholarship program to specifically help students make the transition from Chicago Public Schools or other non-Catholic institutions to a quality Big Shoulders school option.

In fall 2016, Big Shoulders doubled down on this strategy and launched two new scholarship programs – Open Door and Clear Path – to further expand its reach to benefit previously unserved and underserved students.

Leadership Development - 10 to 15 percent of annual investment

The need for strong educational leadership continues to be a local and national problem. In fact, Big Shoulders Fund schools need to hire for approximately 12 to 14 principal positions each year. In response to both the national trends and the current realities in Chicago schools, Big Shoulders has established a scalable model for leadership cultivation in its network of schools. Through both professional development for individuals and opportunities for peer-to-peer support, Big Shoulders Fund's Leadership Development programs are creating and sustaining the structures for improved administrative and instructional practices that are vital to realizing positive student outcomes.

From a broader perspective, Big Shoulders has helped schools fill vacancies through a talent pipeline that spans from pre-service teachers to school principals. Its approach equips these leaders to more effectively approach day-to-day operational and instructional challenges.

The Leadership Development Program (LDP) supports talented teachers as they progress through the administrator licensure process. It provides guidance for placements, offers ongoing professional development, and provides access to a collaborative community of practitioners that is not available elsewhere. By engaging in this set of supports, developing leaders will build and fine-tune their organizational and fiscal management skills, all the while deepening their instructional leadership capacity. Those who are already situated in the role as principal receive supports that include training in established progress monitoring systems in schools, access to teacher leadership programs for faculty, and technical assistance for strategic plan development.

To date, LDP has engaged more than 30 administrators who lead over 380 teachers and serve 6,000 students in their respective schools. Presently nearly one-third of all Big Shoulders schools have an LDP participant or alumnus in their classrooms. Further, during the last three years, schools with LDP participants have increased their enrollment by 4.5 percent and in the 2015-16 school year four principals who had previously participated in LDP were awarded Leadership Incentive Awards which are accompanied by a $12,000 discretionary grant in recognition of their stellar administrative management.

Retention of skilled new teachers is another challenge for schools nationally. With the Teacher Development Program (TDP), Big Shoulders has utilized the LDP model for professional development to address the critical problem and root causes of chronic turnover of new classroom teachers, especially of those that serve in inner-city Catholic schools. This program was launched as a three-year pilot during the 2015-16 school year. It's two-pronged approach that establishes an intensive pre-service recruitment process with a robust channel to route well-trained new teachers into Big Shoulders schools and two year professional development series for new teachers.

Pre-service TDP Fellows pursuing degrees in education receive tuition assistance and are placed in Big Shoulders Fund schools to gain hands-on classroom field experience prior to entering the profession as a full-time teacher. In tandem, the program offers ongoing, practice-centered professional development to teachers in their initial years of classroom teaching. These TDP Fellows participate in an array of activities to cultivate strong instructional skills including quarterly professional development workshops, classroom coaching, project-based peer collaboration, inquiry groups, mini-grants, and mentoring relationships with veteran teachers.

In addressing the front-end challenges, rather than attempting to implement interventions to remedy issues downstream, Big Shoulders aids schools in developing capable and confident teachers and thereby obviating one large factor in new teachers' decision to leave schools. After completion of three-years of induction support, Fellows will continue to have access to the rich bank of resources made available during their time in the program. In addition, they will be better able to participate in other Big Shoulders Fund content or program-specific academic initiatives.

To ensure the sustainability of this investment and provide the highest quality support and resources to schools and students, Big Shoulders has grown its staff with the addition of a Director of Leadership and Scholarship Support. This new addition to the Big Shoulders team transitioned from a position as an outstanding principal at a Big Shoulders Fund elementary school. In addition to working with the Big Shoulders Academic team to recruit and cultivate the Leadership Development Program candidates, the Director of Leadership and Scholarship Support provides network-wide support on special initiatives, Covered Schools projects, and scholar enrichment and support.

Academic Programs and Enrichment 15 to 20 percent of annual investment

While scholarships ensure access to Big Shoulders Fund schools and Leadership Development Programs aim to ensure the quality of leadership and instruction, schools are often in need of further support, financial and other, to ensure students have the right resources they need develop the knowledge, skills, and abilities of 21st century citizens. Through partnerships with area universities and expert educators, Big Shoulders has developed an array of programs that reinforce and enhance the vigorous academic culture of our schools to ensure students continue to grow.

Big Shoulders leveraged partnerships with the UChicago STEM (formerly University of Chicago's Center for Elementary Math and Science (CEMSE)) and the University of Illinois - Chicago to develop and implement the Big Shoulders Fund Mathematics Initiative (BSFMI). BSFMI engages schools that serve low-income youth from some of Chicago's most challenged communities in high quality, rigorous mathematics teaching and aims to develop students' mathematical thinking skills, abilities, and confidence. BSFMI is comprised of two programs, one for prekindergarten through sixth grade and another for middle and high school grades, both of which exemplify a multi-faceted approach that incorporates professional development for teachers and school administrators, evidence-based curriculum and materials, and coaching. The longitudinal impact of the program for early academic years has proven tremendous as third grade students from the first BSFMI class increased math scores by 8.7 points and reached the 70th percentile when assessed again in seventh grade. In a recent analysis, schools within the BSFMI had a statistically significant impact on 5th to 7th grade mathematics.

Big Shoulders Fund Math Initiative Pilot Class Performance Gains – 2010-2014

In response to demand for the program from middle grade math teachers, Big Shoulders, in partnership with the math experts from the University of Illinois-Chicago, expanded the reach of BSMFI to middle and high school classrooms during the 2014-15 school year and set out to engage 10 schools and 15 teachers. In its first six months of implementation 25 teachers from 22 schools participated. At the beginning of the 2015-16 school year, seven additional schools were added for a total of 29 schools and 32 core teachers that educate over 7,500 students.

Big Shoulders and partners address the challenges and barriers to quality mathematics instruction including, but not limited to: greater curricular coherence and alignment from Kindergarten through fifth grade to middle school grades as well as from middle to high school grades, greater utilization of questioning strategies by teachers in instruction, and increased access to instructional resources. Teachers participating in BSFMI reported the program has helped them establish strong cultures of learning in their classroom, their students are engaged at much higher levels in problem-solving, and students have developed more confidence in their mathematical abilities.

Efforts to elevate math instruction and learning, as well as in science instruction, are significantly bolstered through support for technology integration in Big Shoulders Fund schools. From digital learning labs to individual technology devices and interactive software programs, Big Shoulders helps schools develop the infrastructure to support classrooms that are wired for quality STEM education. These technologies allow teachers to deliver highly engaging instruction and individualize support to meet each student where they are in their learning journeys.

Another recent area of focus within academic programs and enrichment is in helping schools make effective, data-informed decisions. To ensure its own capacity to implement this work, Big Shoulders hired a full-time Lead Instructional Coach for Data Analysis who manages various aspects of this network-wide Data Analysis Initiative. The initiative offers participating schools a schedule of professional development sessions to train school leaders and teachers in comprehensive data collection, formative and summative analysis for instructional planning, and assistance in preparing students to transition from the previously implemented TerraNova standardized exam to ACT Aspire.

The Data Driven Instruction Initiative also utilizes a value-added model to measure schools' impact on students' academic growth by comparing average growth in a given school to that of students nationally. This approach differs from those commonly used by states and school districts which employ absolute improvement metrics. In addition, the value-added model accounts for schools' contributions to growth by allowing comparisons of the average differences between actual gains and the averages outcomes of other similar schools and enables evaluators to better understand the extent of a given school's impact.

Except for third to fifth grade math, the number of statistically positive is more than that of statistically negative schools. These findings affirmed schools performance on a number of these growth metrics as compared to national averages, and encouraged Big Shoulders Fund's further investment in the Big Shoulders Fund Math Initiative to address the relative weakness of third to fifth grade math performance.

Capacity Building & Operational Improvement 30 to 35 percent of annual investment

Three years ago, Chicago Public Schools (CPS) enacted the largest mass school closing in American history. This event transformed the educational landscape of the City and resulted in greater scarcity of accessible quality educational options city-wide that were largely felt by students of color. An investigation by The American Prospect found that these closures have disproportionately impacted African American students who comprised 40 percent of CPS enrollment, but made up 88 percent of those affected by school closures.<sup>3</sup> The report goes on to explain that "...87.5 percent of students affected by closures did not move to significantly higher-performing schools."

As discussed previously, Big Shoulders provides supports to underserved students and their families by providing access to quality schools via scholarship programs. In light of the events of recent history, however, it has doubled down on its mission once more. Through partnerships with generous Patrons and investments in the Covered Schools Initiative, Big Shoulders ensures safe, inviting, high quality schools rooted in the communities these families call home remain a viable option.

The Patrons Program pairs schools with Patron donors to develop sustainable structures and more efficient school operations. Patrons partner with schools to develop strategic business plans and accompanying quality indicators, and then provide the financial resources needed to realize stability and growth goals. There are currently 126 highly-engaged Patrons who have already contributed or pledged over $33M at 63 schools over the past 15 years. Funds have improved school's viability through fundraising guidance, marketing support, capital improvements, technological upgrades, academic enhancements, and tuition assistance for current and future students.

Many of the best practices that have been developed over the past decade through the Patrons Program are implemented in select high-need schools through the Covered Schools Initiative. Since 2012, Big Shoulders has worked closely with a small group of schools serving some of the most impoverished communities in Chicago, providing additional support to ensure that they remain viable and academically rigorous. These "Covered Schools" – which are the subject of a written agreement with the Archdiocese of Chicago – are primarily located on Chicago's South and West sides in neighborhoods that typically are the most challenged related to educational options and violence. However, with the comprehensive supports provided by Big Shoulders Fund, these schools are stronger, improve their capacity to offer high-quality education, and continue to serve as anchors of hope and possibility for families in these communities.

In the first two years of the initiative, Big Shoulders Fund was able to work with the Covered Schools to reduce the overall operating deficits by 18.4 percent ($560,000) and increased enrollment by over five percent. If not for this intervention, the Archdiocese would have closed these schools and 3,022 students would have departed Big Shoulders Fund schools at the end of the first two years of this program. The initiative has also kept promising students on the track to long-term success. Ten Teacher Development Program Fellows serve as instructors at four Covered Schools, nine schools are engaged in BSFMI, four receive training and support through the Data Analysis Initiative and two current principals who are Leadership Development Program candidates or alumni hold leadership positions in Covered Schools. Further, last year, 81 percent of eighth graders from Covered Schools enrolled in quality Catholic, selective enrollment CPS, quality or charter high schools. This measure reflects a five percent increase over the quality high school enrollment rate from the graduating class from the previous school year.

Big Shoulders expanded the number of Covered Schools to 12 and invested over $2.1 million to meet the needs of the students and communities they serve during the 2015-16 school year. Cumulatively, the Covered Schools Initiative has helped schools realize over $870,000 in operational savings and alleviated the Archdiocese of Chicago of nearly $3.9 million cost of running these academic institutions.

Evaluation & Long-term Impact

Big Shoulders measures success through a number of student- and school-focused dimensions. For students, Big Shoulders provides access to quality, values-based schools. Student achievement is one measure of Big Shoulders Fund’s effectiveness. The ultimate objective here is to verifiably narrow the achievement gap for low-income, minority students in Big Shoulders schools through improvements in curriculum and instruction specifically in reading, mathematics, and science. Students at Big Shoulders schools on average consistently test well above national norms and outperform local and national averages in mathematics and reading at statistically significant levels. The third party researcher that conducted the analysis in the table below found these findings particularly significant because Big Shoulders Fund schools serve a more diverse and lower income population than the national sample.

For students making the transition from eighth to ninth grade, Big Shoulders provides students and their families the support to continue on to quality high schools through scholarships, guidance on the school selection process, and bridge programs to ensure students are prepared for increasing academic challenges and personal responsibilities. Last year, 74 percent of graduating eighth grade students went to quality Catholic, selective, and quality charter high schools.

Big Shoulders Fund envisions a future in which all inner-city children have access to a values-based education which provides them with the skills and tools to break the cycle of poverty. One of the greatest indicators of student success is not just that they get accepted to college, but that they persist and succeed. Big Shoulders tracks the four-year graduation rate for students in all Big Shoulders high schools and captures data on renewable scholar progress by way of a partnership with the National Student Clearinghouse (NSC). Annual NSC reports include details of each scholar's college enrollment, persistence, and graduation. Big Shoulders scholars graduate high school and enroll and persist in college at higher rates than their CPS peers. Since 2009, 83 percent of our renewable scholars have enrolled in college the year following graduation. This is in contrast to matriculation rates in the Chicago Public Schools system in which approximately five out of ten graduates enter college.

A survey of Big Shoulders alumni aged 24-38 found that 64 percent graduated from college compared with a 34 percent graduation rate of their peers nationally. Further, three out of five alumni who identified as working class or poor during childhood now earn more than Chicago's median income and one in five is currently earning more than $100,000 annually.

The success of Big Shoulders scholars over the long-term is a testament to the quality of education they received - the benefits of academic enrichment programs and positive classroom experiences delivered by highly-skilled educators in Big Shoulders schools. It signifies that the investments Big Shoulders has made in these programs, schools, and students have achieved returns many times over.

Elevating the Conversation: Quality Education on the National Stage

Big Shoulders is at the forefront of national efforts to engage stakeholders and cultivate partnerships to drive the discourse around quality education that has the power to close the achievement gap for low-income students. In August 2016, an editorial drafted by Joshua Hale, Big Shoulders Fund's President and Chief Executive Officer, was featured in the The Huffington Post and called for renewed dedication to social impact and education-focused missions in response to the forces that threaten to diminish the quality of life in Chicago. In addition, staff from Big Shoulders presented at an array of national conferences on the impact of holistic educational programming delivered in partnership with area universities and expert educators. This work held audience with educators from around the country at conferences coordinated by the National Science Teachers Association, National Council for Teachers of Mathematics, National Council of Supervisors of Mathematics, International Literacy Association, South by Southwest, Building Professional Expertise for the 21st Century, The Mustard Seed Conference on Inclusion in Catholic Education, and College Changes Everything.

Commitment to Sustainable Growth & Accountability

The Board of Directors of the Big Shoulders Fund is co-chaired by Mr. James J. O'Connor, retired Chairman & CEO of Commonwealth Edison and Unicom, Mr. John A. Canning, Jr., Chairman of Madison Dearborn Partners, and Monsignor Kenneth Velo, Senior Executive at DePaul University. The full board is composed of over 180 of Chicago's corporate and civic leaders. Big Shoulders is preparing for the future by engaging the next generation of leaders via the Auxiliary Board and Chairmen's Advisory Council. These individuals provide time, talent, treasure in the effort to raise awareness of and funding for Big Shoulders' mission. Members of these groups have a combined membership of 370 individuals who have committed over 2,000 service hours annually. These groups have been recognized among the best performing young professional boards in the City by Crain's Chicago Business.

Big Shoulders has substantially grown its annual investment in schools, from $11 million in 2010 to over $16 million last fiscal year. Big Shoulders Fund's commitment to programmatic quality is matched by its commitment to sound financial management as evidenced by over two decades of maintaining operating expenses that are equal to or less than 10 percent of annual income. For the tenth consecutive year, Big Shoulders was recognized by Charity Navigator, a national evaluator of nonprofit organizations, with its highest Four-Star rating.

Thanks to the generous support of friends like you, Big Shoulders remains steadfast in its mission and has expanded on its initial strategic vision by providing wrap-around programs and supports to students, families, and schools. While the need for access to quality education in our great City persists, our collective engagement in this mission can positively transform schools and communities and empower children grow to lead lives of self-sufficiency and purpose. We deeply appreciate your tremendous partnership and look forward to continuing to help this and future generations of students achieve their greatest potential.
